“Five Things Successful Students Do”

Monday, October 1, 2018
 7:00 pm

Even in our frenetic world of social media, young people still want to be significant, cared about and secure. When adults deliver consistently growth-oriented messages, students will develop the grit needed to forge ahead in their dreams. Patrick

Donohue will discuss the five key messages that can build school success, unlock the potential in young people and help parents develop relationships with their children that are positive and full of energy. Donohue is director of a coaching practice and a former high school educator and staff developer.

“El Desafío de los Costos Universitarios”

Monday, October 1, 2018
 6:00 pm

Sarah Espinosa is an outreach program coordinator at the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC). Students and parents/guardians are encouraged to attend and learn about the financial aid process from start to finish and programs available at the federal and state levels.
